HISTORIC OLD ANNVILLE DAY DECLARED A SUCCESS

Our 2006 Historic Old Annville Day is over and from all reports it was a success.

All the music was excellent, especially the Washington Band. They really exhibited their history well, and I was glad to see that they welcome young boys and girls to join the Band. Annville has much to look forward to in the coming 150 years. Thank you Washington Band.

I still need to hear from some of the sponsors before I can close the books on 2006. All our sponsors were so positive about supporting our Day. Thank you so much.

Saturday, June 9, 2007 will be our next Historic Old Annville Day, and our theme will be Fun and Games in Old Annville. We have had some serious time looking back – now it is time to have some fun. What can you remember about your childhood and the stories about your parents and grandparents? Let me hear from you.

Thank you, again, for a wonderful day.

From the Editor...

Our Historic Old Annville Day is now behind us and we look forward to next year when we can learn of the fun and games of yesteryear. There were at least three extremely happy and richer individuals when their names were called as the winners of the raffle.

The Steve Kreamer family has expressed their pleasure and appreciation in receiving the property pride award which was announced during the opening ceremony.

However, now we turn our sites to our upcoming fundraiser, the Country Faire. This event will supplant the Christmas Jumble and monies realized will go toward our winter expenses in maintaining the Train Station.

Please take the time to read more about these exciting events.

Have you admired the flowers at the Library. FOOA supplied the plants, and Glenn Beidler added the magic when he planted them.

We also provided flowers for the Town Hall, along with the geraniums given by Jim Bowers. Jim was also responsible for planting them.

FOOA donated the flowers at the Washington Band Hall, also. Michelle planted them.

PROPERTY PRIDE AWARD

Brenda, Steve, Christian, and Kennedy Kreamer were presented with the award this year for 242 West Main Street.

They had purchased the Meyer Home on West Main Street across from the Rescue Fire Hall, turned it in to apartments, and carefully chose the colors to enhance the historic aspect of the building.

Jennifer Paulson, again, came across with a beautiful painting of the old home.

Steve and Brenda were encouraged by the work in our town. Annville is the best – past and present, and we look forward enthusiastically to the future.

Dear All Friends of Olde Annville:

On behalf of myself, Brenda, Christian, and Kennedy, I want to thank you for honoring us with the Property Pride Award given to us on Olde Annville Days. What a surprise! I really didn't think about the award when I was painting the building. However, the paint job was long overdue and with all the renovations of the downtown through the Streetscape Project, it really had an affect on our decisions about the colors we chose. I think as time goes on more and more people will try to tie in with the historic aspects of this beautiful town. I just gives you incentive to "fit in" when you are looking at a project like that.

I think this town is really beginning to come around. Not that I thought it was a bad place to live, but you can leave buildings and grounds deteriorate if you don't keep up with them or have a plan in place to make it happen. I think the township commissioners and organizations like yours have taken a big step in putting things in place to make sure the integrity of Annville remains. I've lived here all 48 years of my life and Annville only continues to become one of the best kept secrets in Central Pennsylvania.

Thanks also goes to Jenny Paulson for the beautiful painting of the apartment building which now hangs in my office. Once again, we are very grateful for giving us the Property Award for 2006. Our best to you and your organization.

Sincerely,

Steven R. Kreamer
